

Antelope Valley College (AVC)

The State of California requires certain criteria be met before a student may be classified as a resident for enrollment purposes.

ESTABLISHING CALIFORNIA RESIDENCY

Physical Presence in California:

The following criteria apply in proving physical presence in California:

- Individuals 18 years and older must be a U.S. citizen who has lived in California for one year and one day prior to the first day of instruction of the semester for which classification is requested.
- Individuals under 18 years of age must be a dependent of a California resident who has resided in California for one year and one day prior to the first day of instruction of the semester for which classification is requested.

NOTE: Non –U.S. Citizens

Non-U.S. citizens will be evaluated for residency based on immigration status as permanent residents or on the type of visa held, length of stay in California, and intent to maintain California as a permanent home. Students on B, C, D, F, H-2, H-3, J, M, O-2, P, or Q visas and students not in the United States legally are precluded from establishing residency.

Intent to Remain in California

Individuals requesting classification as a California resident must also show intent to maintain California as a legal residence. Just being present within the state does not show intent to become a resident. Objective manifestations of intent to establish California residence include, but are not limited to:

Financial Independence:

Individuals requesting classification as a resident may be required to demonstrate financial independence for the current and immediately preceding calendar year. Should Antelope Valley Community College require proof of financial independence, both a notarized student and parent affidavit will be required to prove that the individual requesting classification:

- 1) Has not been claimed as an exemption for state and federal tax purposes by his/her non-resident parents,
- 2) Has not received more than $750 from his/her non-resident parents within the current and immediately preceding calendar year, and
- 3) Has not lived in the home of his/her non-resident parents for more than six weeks within the current and immediately preceding calendar year.

NOTE:

A student who has not been a resident of California for more than one year and who is the dependent child of a California resident who has been a resident for more than one year prior to the residence determination date is entitled to resident classification. A dependent child is one who has been claimed as a dependent for income tax purposes.

Military Personnel and/or Dependents:

Antelope Valley Community College will classify servicepersons who are not California residents, but are stationed in California on active military duty, as a resident, for as long as they are on active duty. A current military I.D. will verify the student's status on a semester-by-semester basis.

Dependents of servicepersons will be classified as a resident, for a period of one year from the date of the dependent's entry into California.

Dependents will lose resident status one full year after date of entry into California unless permanent residence in California has been established and can be documented. To establish California residency, the student must prove physical presence in the state of California for one year prior to the residency determination date and show intent to maintain California as his/her legal state of residence.

Questions regarding establishing California residency should be directed to Antelope Valley College; Admissions and Records Office (661) 722-6300 ext. 6504.
