

SLOs Step by Step

SLOs address the following:

What will students be able to do/know when the course is complete?

Write enough SLOs to perform a thorough assessment of the course. On average, 5 would be sufficient but they can range from as few as 2 to as many as 8.

Use Bloom's taxonomy as a guide.

1. Fill in the SLO form found at <http://www.avc.edu/organizations/slo/documents.htm>. The form is editable; you can adjust the column margins, use the spellchecker, and cut and paste.
2. Do not forget to fill out the ILOs each SLO addresses (and PLOs if you have created these for your program)
3. List the tools you will use to assess the SLOs (under the assessment column)-quantitative tools are easier, but qualitative tools are also very useful.

4. Sign and date the form.
5. Submit the form to the dean for signature (see form).
6. Please put the complete SLO form in the SLO mailbox in the mailroom-the SLO committee will be giving you feedback soon after.
