

Some Upcoming AVConnect Events and Activities for Journaling, August and September, 2010

Some Monday-Friday anytime journaling activities:

- Journal on your experience using the Learning Center (campus phone 722-6300, ext. 6458) or the Instructional Media Center (ext. 6451).
- Journal on your experience attending a Learning Center workshop (ext. 6458).
- Journal on your experience visiting with a tutor (ext. 6233) or an academic, career, or advisement counselor (ext. 6724).
- Journal on your use of the SMARTTHINKING essay writing program (ext. 6228).
- Attend a campus club event, meeting, or activity (more information at ext. 6354).
- Visit the college art gallery and write about the art on display.
- Visit the library and write about an intriguing book that you stumbled upon while browsing in the stacks, or something else that you experienced using the library.

Some special calendar events in August and September that you might like to journal on:

- Free Will Discussion. On Saturday, August 28th, from 6-9 pm in the AVC Board Room (Student Services Building, rm. 151), there will be an evening of reflection and discussion, between three philosophy professors, on the subject of free will. Do we really have it?
- Art Lecture. On Wednesday, September 1st, from 7-8 pm at AVC's art gallery, an artist will talk about art.
- Ancient Jewish and Roman History Lecture and Discussion. On Friday, September 3rd, from 7-10 pm, Dr. Matt Rainbow will reflect on the Jewish-Roman War of 70 CE and its effect on history.
- AVC Marauder Football Pre-Game Lecture. On Wednesday, September 8th, from 7-8 pm in the AVC Board Room (Student Services Building, rm. 151), a coach will lecture on offensive and defensive strategy in the run-up to Saturday's football game.
- Lecture and Discussion of Howard Gardner's Multiple Intelligence Theory. What are multiple intelligences, and do you have them? Dr. Magdalena Caproiu will talk on this subject on Friday, September 10th from 7-10 pm in the AVC Board Room (Student Services Building, rm. 151).
- AVC Marauder Football Game. On Saturday, September 11th, from 6-9 pm at Marauder Stadium, you can attend a football game and journal on the experience.
- Maya Architecture. On Tuesday, September 14th, from 7-10 pm in the AVC Board Room (Student Services Building, rm. 151) you can attend a professor's presentation on a Maya architectural site in Central America.
- Red Scare. On Friday, September 17th, from 7-10 pm in the AVC Board Room (Student Services Building, rm. 151), you can attend a professor's presentation on the fear of communism in American culture in the 1950s.
- Art Lecture. On Wednesday, September 29, from 7-8 pm at AVC's art gallery (room FA1), an artist will talk about art.

The above list of activities is not everything that is happening on AVC's campus. If you discover an event or activity on campus that is not listed above, but you want to journal on your attending it, by all means do so. If the event or activity expands your educational horizons or enthusiasm for college, the professors on campus want you to follow your impulse and use that experience to complete one of your assigned journals.
