Recommendation 2.2

Require all incoming community college students to: (1) participate in diagnostic assessment and orientation and (2) develop an education plan.

By requiring students to participate in these core services, the community college system will ensure that students have the foundational tools necessary to make informed choices about their education. The Board of Governors will define categories of students who should be exempt from mandatory placement and orientation, such as students with a prior degree returning to pursue training in a different career field. Colleges would also be able to exempt students from each of these requirements on a case-by-case basis.

Requirements for Implementation

- Education Code section 78212 and Title 5 section 55500 ff. already require colleges to provide these and other matriculation services to all non-exempt students if funding is provided for that purpose.
- Amend Title 5 sections 55021-25 to require students to participate in assessment, orientation and development of a student education plan.
- Amend Title 5 section 55532 to establish more explicit criteria for exempting students from participation in required services in order to achieve greater clarity and statewide consistency in the proportion of students to be served.

The Task Force recognizes that implementation of this recommendation requires: (1) a substantial reallocation of existing local resources; (2) additional resources; and (3) new modes of service delivery in order to make these required services available to all incoming students.

Recommendation 2.4

Require students whose diagnostic assessments show a lack of readiness for college to participate in a support resource, such as a student success course, learning community, or other sustained intervention, provided by the college for new students.

A student's readiness for college is based on several factors in addition to their academic proficiency in English and mathematics. College readiness includes other variables that can influence a student's ability to successfully complete credit-bearing, college-level coursework. The extensive work done by Dr. David Conley's Education Policy Improvement Center at the University of Oregon defines four dimensions of "college knowledge" critical to student success: (1) Key cognitive strategies, including analysis, interpretation, precision, problem solving, and reasoning; (2) Specific types of content knowledge, most importantly the ability to read and write critically; (3) Attitudes and behavioral attributes, including study skills, time management, awareness of one's performance, persistence, and the ability to utilize study groups; and (4) Contextual knowledge about college resources and expectations and how to successfully adjust to navigating the college environment.

Community colleges have tested numerous models of supporting under-prepared students, both inside and outside the classroom, through college success courses, first-year experience programs, learning communities, and campus-wide initiatives. These efforts promote critical thinking skills and behaviors, or "habits of mind" essential to college success. Experience within the CCC system and nationally demonstrates the effectiveness of such deliberate interventions in supporting student persistence and success.

Requirements for Implementation

- Amend Title 5 section 55521 to allow for students to be placed in a student success course or other support activity.
- Require students to participate in a student success support intervention if assessment results demonstrate a need.
- Encourage colleges to review the readily available literature on student success courses and other interventions to determine elements that would likely make them most effective for their local population.
- The Chancellor's Office should review college models for campus and online student orientation and student success courses currently in place and disseminate the most effective scalable approaches and curricula.

Recommendation 2.5

Encourage students to declare a program of study upon admission, intervene if a declaration is not made by the end of their second term, and require declaration by the end their third term in order to maintain enrollment priority.

Declaring a major or program of study is more specific than declaring a broad educational goal such as earning an associate degree or transferring to a four-year college. Declaring a program of study sets incoming students on a specific educational pathway and builds early momentum for their success. Research from the Institute for Higher Education Leadership and Policy shows that students who entered a program in their first year were twice as likely to complete a certificate, degree, or transfer as students who entered a program after their first year. First-year concentrators were nearly 50 percent more likely to complete than those who entered a program in their second year, and the rates of completion fell sharply for students entering a program of study later than their second year. A student who is unable to declare a major or program of study by the end of their second term should be provided counseling and career planning interventions to assist them. Students who fail to declare a program of study after their third term should lose enrollment priority.

Nothing would preclude a student from changing their direction and declaring a new program of study but the implications of change, in terms of cost and time to completion, should be made clear. In addition, students would have the ability to appeal a loss of enrollment priority.

Requirements for Implementation

- Amend Title 5 regulations to require students to declare a specific program of study by the end of their second term.
- Current Title 5 regulations require students to declare an educational goal "during the term after which the student completes 15 semester units or 22 quarter units of degree-applicable credit coursework, unless the district establishes a shorter period." Title 5 also requires districts to establish a process for assisting students to select a specific educational goal within a "reasonable time," as defined by the district, after admission.
- Amend Title 5 to define "program of study" as a certificate, degree, or transfer objective in a specific occupational area or major. Groups of students exempted from meeting this requirement should also be specified in regulations.

Recommendation 8.2

Invest in a student support initiative.

Improved and expanded core student support services such as diagnostic assessments, orientation, and education planning are needed in order to help more students successfully navigate the community college environment. Bolstering these support programs will require reprioritization of resources at the state and local levels, and increased use of innovative technologies, as well as additional state investment.

While innovation and reprioritization of existing resources will be necessary, the reality is that without additional investment by the state, the ability of colleges to implement many key elements of this report, particularly in the area of student support services, is doubtful. Accordingly, the state and the community college system should set as a top priority for additional state funding the investment in a new Student Support Initiative.

- The Student Support Initiative would rename and encompass the current Matriculation program thus elevating the prominence of the program.
- Beginning with the 2012-13 State Budget, a top priority for new monies appropriated to the system would be to augment the Student Support Initiative.
- These funds would be directed to community college districts to support activities and programs that are necessary to promote student success, including but not limited to implementing diagnostic assessments, orientation, and education planning.
- Receipt of these funds by a district would be conditioned on the district developing and submitting to the Chancellor's Office a local student success plan aligned with state and local district goal setting (as outlined in Chapter 7). Plans will identify specific strategies and investments over a multi-year period.
- Further, as a condition of receiving Student Support Initiative funds, districts would be required to implement the common assessment proposed in Recommendation 2.1 and the accountability scorecard described in Recommendation 7.3.
- The Chancellor's Office will monitor district progress towards meeting goals, both in terms of programmatic implementation and also student success metrics.

Requirements for Implementation

- Amend the annual Budget Act, Statute, and Title 5 regulations to fund and implement the new Student Support Initiative as outlined above.
