Program Description
The course offerings fall into two categories: film/television history and theory, and film/video production. Both areas are designed to build specific skills upon a strong foundation of general knowledge of film and television production. The history and theory courses allow the student to explore the beginnings of this medium and its influences on popular culture. In the production program, students will learn aspects of visual storytelling, from writing and production to directing, sound design, cinematography and editing. The Film/Video Production program emphasizes exploration of the students filmmaker’s personal creative voice through “hands-on” filmmaking. Students learn the collaborative nature of filmmaking through crew experiences. The process allows students to develop skills in all areas of the craft, experimenting with both the creative and technical aspects of production.

Program Learning Outcomes
Film, Television, and Electronic Media AS-T
1. Students will plan, script, budget, light, shoot, provide sound recording/design and edit a short film production.
2. Students will develop an understanding of screenplay format and will write a short film script.
3. Students will demonstrate an understanding of the different phases of film production as well as film theories, criticism, history, aesthetics & vocabulary.

Distinctive Features
In the Film/Video Production program, students will create mini production teams, shooting on location throughout the Antelope Valley. The successful student has the opportunity to come away from this program with a completed short film or video. Our faculty are working professionals from Hollywood. Course offerings are designed to serve three student groupings: film/television students planning to transfer to a four-year institution; students seeking fulfillment of general education requirements for a degree program; and students wishing to gain specific skills and knowledge in order to pursue careers in the film and television industry.

Certificate Program
Certificate not applicable.

Associate Degree
Film and Television courses can be included in the 18 units necessary for an associate degree with a major in Liberal Arts and Sciences. (See Graduation/Associate Degree Requirements.)
Film and Television

Associate in Science in Film, Television, and Electronic Media for Transfer

Film and Television are the most powerful cultural and artistic mediums of our time and have forever marked the popular culture of the twentieth century. As a society film, television and electronic media are ever present in our world and we are continuously influenced by the visual images of these powerful mediums as they link with the ancient art of storytelling through various formats. Studying film, television and electronic media teaches us about our lives and our society and impacts how we view ourselves as well as the world around us.

The Associate in Science in Film, Television, and Electronic Media for Transfer (AS-T in Film, Television, and Electronic Media) degree is designed to give students a strong practical foundation in film and television production while also giving a basis of the history, aesthetics, theory, and development of visual storytelling through motion pictures.

The production program will provide students with the knowledge and skills associated with every phase of motion picture production from writing and producing to directing, sound design, cinematography and editing. The program emphasizes the exploration of the student’s personal creative voice through “hands-on” filmmaking. Students will learn the collaborative nature of filmmaking through crew experiences. The process allows students to develop skills in all areas of the craft experimenting with both creative and technical jobs through all aspects of production.

The Associate in Science in Film, Television, and Electronic Media for Transfer (AS-T in Film, Television, and Electronic Media) degree meets the requirements of SB 1440 for Associate Degrees for Transfer (ADT). These degrees are intended to make it easier for students to transfer to California State University campuses, but do not exclude admittance to other colleges or universities.

To earn an Associates in Arts in Film, Television, and Electronic Media for Transfer (AA-T in Film, Television, and Electronic Media) degree a student must complete the following:

1. Completion of 60 semester units or 90 quarter units that are eligible for transfer to the California State University, including both of the following:
   (A) The Intersegmental General Education Transfer Curriculum (IGETC) or the California State University General Education – Breadth Requirements.
   (B) A minimum of 18 semester units or 27 quarter units in a major or area of emphasis, as determined by the community college district.

2. Obtainment of a minimum grade point average of 2.0.

ADTs also require that students must earn a C or better in all courses required for the major or area of emphasis.

FTV 101 *INTRODUCTION TO FILM
3 units
4 hours weekly
Advisory: Eligibility for ENGL 100A and READ 099.

Students are introduced to the language and technology of filmmaking through the examination of great films and filmmakers. The course features a broad range of domestic and international cinema and investigates the culture, politics, and social histories of the periods in which the films were produced. The successful student becomes more aware of the complexity of film art, more sensitive to its nuances, textures, and rhythms, and more perceptive in reading its multilayered blend of image, sound, and motion. (CSU, UC, AVC)

FTV 103 *INTRODUCTION TO TELEVISION
3 units
3 hours weekly
Advisory: Eligibility for ENGL 100A and READ 099.

This course is designed to develop the student’s ability to form a critical perspective of the television industry. Students are introduced to the business and history of television programming, genre conventions, production techniques, narrative forms, as well as various modes of television criticism. By studying key texts and programs, they will develop an appreciation of television as an art form and its impact on our culture. (CSU, AVC)

FTV 107 *HISTORY OF FILM, PRE 1950
3 units
3 hours weekly
Advisory: Eligibility for ENGL 100A and READ 099.

Students examine the development of world cinema from the pre-cinema machines to 1950. The course investigates the aesthetic, theoretical, technological, economic, cultural, and social factors that contributed to the development of the medium. Attention is paid to the historical development of formal devices such as the shot, editing, mise-en-scene, sound design, color and black and white, and the evolution of the narrative film form. (CSU, UC, AVC)

FTV 108 *HISTORY OF FILM, 1950–PRESENT
3 units
3 hours weekly
Advisory: Eligibility for ENGL 100A and READ 099.

Students examine the development of world cinema from 1950 to the present. The course investigates the aesthetic, theoretical, technological, economic, cultural, and social factors that contributed to the development of the medium. Attention is paid to the historical development of formal devices such as the shot, editing, mise-en-scene, sound design, color and black and white, and the evolution of the narrative film form. (CSU, UC, AVC)

FTV 121 *INTRODUCTION TO DIGITAL FILMMAKING
4 units
6 hours weekly
Advisory: Completion of FTV 101, and Eligibility for ENGL 100A and READ 099.

The course provides an intensive introduction to the fundamentals of digital filmmaking. Students develop, write, shoot, and edit a series of short digital video projects. Students learn introductory methods and techniques of writing and structuring a story concept, developing a shooting script, basic camera and lighting techniques, and editing and post-production processes. Students develop basic skills to work as members of a production crew. Students will leave the class with a completed final project. (CSU, AVC)
The successful student will become more aware of the complex interplay between cultural representations in cinema and audience perceptions and become more adept at applying critical theories to analyze these images. The films, texts, and classroom materials examine a broad range of Hollywood and independent cinema, making students aware of the culture, politics, and social history of the periods in which the films were produced. (CSU, UC, AVC)

FTV 215 *DIRECTING FOR FILM AND VIDEO

3 units
4 hours weekly
Advisory: Completion of FTV 101 and FTV 121.
Students are introduced to the fundamental techniques of directing for film and video. Various methods and techniques of working with actors are examined along with blocking and staging scenes. Topics include script analysis, formulating a creative vision for the scene, mise-en-scene, directing actors for camera, basic camera coverage strategies, camera movement motivation and composition, and working with a crew. Students will apply various techniques and theories to in-class scene work. (CSU, AVC)

FTV 220 *ADVANCED SCREENWRITING

3 units
3 hours weekly
Prerequisite: Completion of FTV 134.
Advanced students utilize techniques from the introductory course to complete a professional, polished feature film screenplay. Students may also choose to bring in a first draft and perform a rewrite and polish through instructor consultation and workshops with their classmates. The course will focus on the application of advanced screenwriting techniques, including alternate story structures, subplots and subtext, and genre conventions as well as examine current business practices and case studies in the film industry. (CSU, AVC)
