Academic regalia and the academic mace

The origins of the academic cap and gown can be traced back to the first European colleges and universities during the Middle Ages.

At the time, most of the schools were for theologians, so students and teachers adopted the standard clerical dress of the time:

- The cappa—a plain, ankle-length cassock
- A biretta—a stiff, square cap with a tuft on top

The cappa was a simple gown and least costly, thus it was considered most appropriate for clerical students. Initially, the gown colors indicated ecclesiastical rank or a particular order, with scholars and lesser clergy wearing black.

By the mid-1500s, individual colleges and universities adopted gowns with distinctive shapes and colors. As for the biretta, its shape changed to a “mortar board” in the 1800s as institutions sought to standardize the shape and size of the upper part of the headpiece.

The “mortar board” style itself can be traced to the Middle Ages as the guild of masons would wear hats representing an aspect of their trade—in this case, the boards on which they mixed mortar—to festive ceremonies.

The tuft on the biretta evolved into the modern tassel.

The colorful academic hoods worn by faculty, trustees and administrators at today’s ceremony, are merely a modern variation of a tippet—a long, black scarf worn over a robe hundreds of years ago to keep a person warm. The hood, now elongated to hang down the back, reflects the academic background of the wearer.

Tassels and hoods worn by faculty and officials contain colors reflecting the academic background of each person:

Arts, letters, humanities.....	white
Business.....	drab
Economics.....	copper
Education.....	light blue
Engineering.....	orange
Fine arts.....	brown
Library science.....	lemon
Music.....	pink
Nursing.....	apricot
Philosophy.....	dark blue
Physical education.....	sage green
Science.....	golden yellow
Social work.....	citron

The master’s hood is pointed; the doctor’s hood is bell shaped. The border of the hood indicates the scholar’s department; the lining emblazons his or her school colors. Borders are made of satin for masters and velvet for doctors.

Gowns of masters and doctors also have differences. The master’s gown has pointed sleeves slit at the elbows. A doctor’s gown has wide lapels of velvet, either black or the color of the scholar’s specialization. The sleeves are full and bell-shaped. There are three velvet chevrons, either black or colored like the lapels.

The academic scepter, or mace, was one of the earliest distinctive signs of medieval university officials. The mace was originally a wooden staff carried by royal messengers. In the 15th century it became symbolic of academic dignity. By the 16th century, the mace, a symbol of authority, was embraced as a ceremonial object by colleges and universities.

Students today are also wearing either academic stoles and/or academic cords signifying their program of study or their groups of affiliation while at AVC. These signs of recognition and acknowledgment communicate to the campus their relationship and outstanding success.

Distinguished Alumni 2025

Lewis Arnold

Lew loved sports as a young boy and used to recall his mother saying, "You will never amount to anything, all you want to do is chase a ball" and chase it he did, through his entire life. He played football, basketball and baseball at Antelope Valley High School and Antelope Valley Community College. Lew was a part of the first basketball team at AVC to make it to the Final Four in 1953. He also played football while attending Fresno State.

Lew was a true Renaissance man. He was a college campus fireman, a lifeguard and later Pool Manager at Courson Park Pool, participating in the Aquacades as a form and clown diver and scuba diver instructor. He was a private pilot who owned his own plane, a state auctioneer, and a dog trainer, whose dogs worked in the movie and commercial industry for over 10 years.

Lew and his wife, Pat, of 31 years amassed hundreds of trophies and championships in country western dancing and were instrumental in teaching hundreds of students to dance. He will always be remembered as a humble man of faith.

Lewis (Lew Arnold) passed September 3, 2021 at 87.

Frank Roberts

Frank and his wife Gail who passed in 2020 after 70 years of marriage shared a remarkable life together, marked by love, dedication, and a spirit of community. Long-time residents of California's Eastern Sierra region will fondly remember them as the founders of the Mono County Television Corporation. Established in June Lake in 1955, their family business was instrumental in bringing cable television to the area and played a pivotal role in relaying television signals to communities throughout Mono and Inyo Counties during the early days of broadcast technology.

Frank enjoyed a distinguished career as an educator at Antelope Valley College in Lancaster, California, where he retired in 1996 as the Dean of Applied Academics.

A dedicated civic leader, he served the Lancaster community with distinction and was elected Mayor for four consecutive two-year terms before he and Gail retired to their home in Bishop.

Frank Roberts passed December 9, 2024 at age 93.
