It is a program to benefit needy students that need help getting food. She said we know very well that there are many students on campus that need help and this would be a great program. She said maybe we can talk to the Agriculture department and classes and further consider the project.

Treasurer Patricia Del Gaudio said that her goal is to create health services in the APL building after the classes used by the nurses for practice are vacated when the new Health Sciences building is completed. She said that due to her experience seeing someone in need of health services was not helped because our current services could not accommodate her, so her inspiration is to have a place for health services.
